CLARK LAUNCHES DRIVE ON NAPLES

NAZIS ABANDON KUBAN BASE IN CAUCASUS AREA

Troops Pull Out as Russians Threaten To Trap Forces Along Dneiper.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Sept. 24 — German troops are abandoning their Kuban bridgehead in the Caucasus, the Berlin radio announced today as Russian troops threatened to trap Nazi positions along the lower Dnieper and still further northeast moved within artillery range of Smolensk.

The Red army has reached the Dnieper in force, and other Soviet troops northwest of Smolensk have captured the village of Tarasenki, only three miles from the border of White Russia, Soviet dispatches said today.

The German high command said the Russians already were making heavy thrusts in efforts to cross the Dnieper, but declared they were repulsed).

In a broadcast recorded by Reuters the Nazi Transocean news agency said:

"The Germans are systematically evacuating heavy equipment, important installations and civilians from the Kuban bridgehead."

This German admission followed by some 36 hours Russian announcement of the capture of Anapa, last Black sea port held by the Nazis on the Taman peninsula.

Situation Grows Critical

As a result of steady Russian advances in the Kiev sector, meanwhile, the situation of the German forces along the bend of the lower Dnieper appeared to be growing more critical by the hour.

(The British radio, quoting reports from Moscow, declared the Russians were "so close to the Dnieper river at some points they can shell enemy positions on the other side, CBS said. Russian spearheads, the broadcast said, have blasted through the outer defenses of Kiev to within 10 miles of the Ukrainian capital.)

Kiev itself was in imminent danger from Russian columns operating to both north and south, a Moscow communique indicated the Russians were developing a pincer movement aimed at Cherkasi, 90 miles to the southeast, and at the junction of the Pripet and Dnieper rivers, 55 miles to the north.

Capture of Poltava yesterday gave the Russians control of a 300-mile stretch of territory bordering the middle Dnieper between Dnepropetrovsk and Chernigov, and opened the way for a direct advance on Cherkasi and Kremenchug, both important enemy bases on the Dnieper.

River Crossing Important

Trubaitsky, 15 miles from Cherkasi, was occupied in the Poltava advance, the Moscow communique said. A plunge across the river at this point would imperil huge axis forces inside the bend and on the east side of the river, increase the threat to Kiev and place Russian forces in a position to isolate German positions in the Crimea.

More than 5,300 Germans were killed in the day's fighting, the Moscow war bulletin stated, and 882 more liberated towns and villages were added to the Russian map.

Operations in the Smolensk area resulted in the storming of Bukrovo, nine miles to the northeast, and Pochinok, 19 miles to the southeast. Seizure of Pochinok cut the railway to Roslavl, where the Berlin radio said Soviet and German troops were fighting in the streets.

Labor Leader Arrested in Test of Texas Law

By The Associated Press

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 24—Texas' new labor law, a CIO vice president from Detroit, and his issue of freedom of speech were dumped in the lap of the courts today—after arrest of the labor leader who solicited union memberships in defiance of a restraining order.

Addressing oil workers last night, Vice President R. J. Thomas of the Congress of Industrial Organization said:

"I earnestly ask those who are not now members of the Oil Workers International Union to join now."

At the end of the meeting officers arrested Thomas and three CIO organizers on a charge of violating the new labor law, which requires a state charter for any one soliciting union memberships. They made bond of $400 each. No trial date has been set.

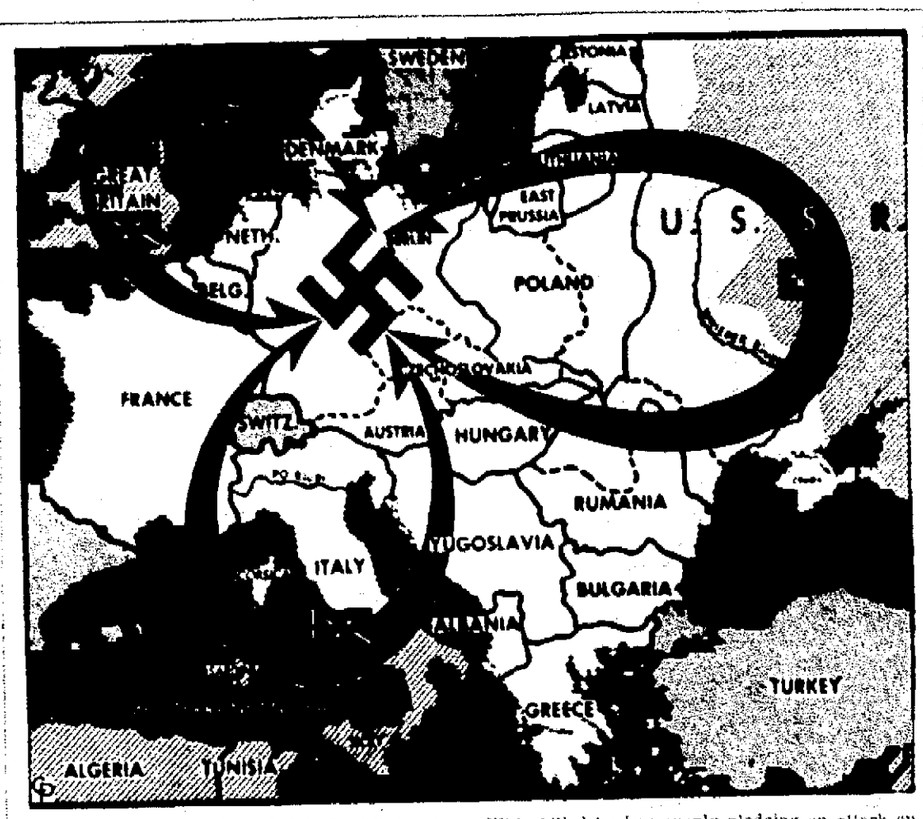
REPORT GERMAN EXECUTED

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 — The London radio, quoting a Berlin broadcast, said today that a 50-year-old German workman had been executed for making defeatist speeches in a public park. The broadcast was recorded by CBS.



NEW ASSAULT TO SIGNAL RACE FOR BERLIN. With Allied leaders openly pledging an attack on Hitler's "Fortress Europe" from the west, an Allied race for Berlin looms as the next major phase of the war in Europe. If the blow is struck through France and the low countries, as Prime Minister Churchill pledged the British parliament in his recent report, the Allied drives will develop as in this map, with assaults from east, south and west. County's 3rd War Loan Sales Reach Total of $3,780,028

Another $195,780.25 was added to Marion county's Third War Loan yesterday, pushing the total to $3,780,028.50 or more than 133 per cent of the county's official goal of $2,829,000.

If sales continue at yesterday's level, the county will be well over its latest self-set goal of $4,000,000 by the time the campaign ends next Thursday.

Yesterday's sales included $51,431.25 in E bonds, favorite of individual buyers, and pushed the total for E bonds in the campaign past the half million dollar mark. The new E bond total is $510,199.50.

Other series of bonds figuring in yesterday's sales were Treasury 2 per cent, $122,000; Series C, $10,000; Series F, $4,079; Series G, $2,000.

Drive leaders this morning issued a statement regarding figures announced in Thursday night's Star for the Universal Cooler Corp. Due to a misunderstanding, a $100,000 purchase made by the Universal Cooler Corp. was credited toward the company's employe quota of $50,000. Purchases made by companies can not be credited toward their employes' quota, drive officials pointed out. However, even with the $100,000 company purchase eliminated from the employes' quota, the employes still are over the top by a comfortable margin and are the first sizeable factory employe group to exceed its quota, drive leaders said.

Today's bulletin from the area headquarters in Cleveland still carried Marion county at the head of the 26 counties in this area as of the close of finance on Wednesday. Marion was then credited with 121 per cent of its quota and Trumbull county was in second place in the standings with 110 per cent. Crawford county was in fifth place with 78.8 per cent of its quota raised, Richland in eighth with 73.4 per cent and Morrow county twenty-third with 39.1 per cent.

FIFTH ARMY SMASHES INTO NAZI DEFENSES

Allied Torpedo Boats Sink 2 German Ships in Dash Into Albanian Harbor.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 24 —The Germans are continuing their northward withdrawal of Corsica, a French communique said today. Allied forces have occupied Bonifacio and Porto Vecchio while allied planes intercepted German attempts at an aerial evacuation.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 24—The Fifth army launched a full-scale offensive against German mountain positions guarding the route to Naples, it was announced today, while allied motor torpedo boats stabbed into Valona harbor on the coast of Albania and sank two enemy vessels.

The onslaught of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's American and British soldiers from their hard-won Salerno positions was accompanied by an intensification of the blockade of the waning German position on the island of Corsica. There RAF Beaufighters sliced into German air transport formations engaged in evacuating the enemy forces and shot down seven of the planes.

The communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said the Fifth army had captured Oliveto-Citra, 24 miles east of Salerno, while Matera, 30 miles northwest of Taranto, had been captured on the British front.

An official announcement said Altamura, 42 miles northwest of Taranto and 10 miles north of Matera, also had been captured.

The drive against Naples, Italy's second greatest port, was launched after a period of consolidation of the allied springboard and while the Germans were reported engaged in large-scale demolitions, apparently with the idea of making the harbor installations useless when the allies occupy the city.

(The Allied-controlled Palermo radio, in a broadcast reported today to the office of war information, said Italians escaping from Naples reported residents of the city were battling Germans in the streets, firing at the enemy from the windows of their homes or using stones if without firearms.

(Citizens who rebel are shot without any inquiry by the German officials, the broadcast said. "Numerous Italian officers and soldiers have also been shot on grounds of non-collaboration.")

Opposition Heavy

Driving northward into strongly-defended saw-toothed positions, Clark's troops encountered heavy artillery and mortar opposition as well as minefields, and a spokesman said they were making slow progress.

"The fighting is bitter and severe," he said.

"The enemy obviously intends to hold onto Naples as long as possible."

The attack, which had been in full progress from the first light of day yesterday, also was supported strongly by artillery and mortars.

While Clark threw nearly his full strength into the ferocious attack, the Germans were forced to concentrate almost entirely in that area and the British Eighth army in the south was able to advance swiftly and almost at will.

(The German communique broadcast from Berlin said strong forces had attacked at Salerno and Contursi to the southeast. It declared the Contursi attack was repelled but admitted that the attack still was in progress in the Salerno area.)

The daring motorboat foray to the Albanian shore marked an allied move in a new direction against the German forces in southeastern and southern Europe.

A naval announcement said the larger of the two vessels sunk was laden with ammunition. Shore batteries opened fire, causing some damage to one vessel, but all returned to base without casualties, the announcement said.

The naval announcement said allied vessels still are pouring re-

AUSSIE GUNS SHELLING JAPS

Artillery Fires on Finschhafen After Allies Reach Point Two Miles Away.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHEAST PACIFIC, Sept. 24—Australian artillery pounded the Japanese today in the New Guinea coastal base of Finschhafen, arching shells over frontline patrols which have beaten down rapidly fading enemy resistance to reach the edge of an airfield two miles north of their objective.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur thus confronted the Japanese with the threatened loss of their third air base since Sept. 12 in a jungle sector where the enemy already has expended more than 12,000 men.

Today MacArthur permitted release of the first details of the amphibious operation against Finschhafen, only 70 over-water miles southeast of New Britain, a key position of the Japanese.

Follow Fall of Lae

Australians began landing on a beach six miles north of Finschhafen, at dawn Wednesday, six days after the fall of Lae and 10 days after the capture of Salamaua.

American warships bombarded enemy positions beyond the beachhead. Bombers dropped 21 tons of explosives on Finschhafen. Attack planes fired 48,000 rounds of ammunition.

Eighty-five miles northeast, the Japanese air units at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, were prevented from interfering by four hours

BAN ON FATHER DRAFT FADING

Congress Looks to U. S. Payrolls To Provide More Eligible Men.

(More on Draft on Page 11)

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—The federal payroll drew the attention today of congressmen striving to keep fathers out of uniform.

Chairman May (D-Ky) of the house military committee, an opponent of the father draft, called upon Major General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, to explain next week an estimated 300,000 non-fathers of draft age on the government payroll. Rep. Costello (D-Calif), a colleague, said half this number should be in the armed forces and Rep. Harness (R-Ind) asserted "this lost army" should meet the military's needs without requiring induction of family heads.

In both the senate and house, legislators apparently had abandoned their fight to outlaw father draft. An unofficial poll in the senate showed less than 20 certain votes for the Wheeler bill to block the draft until Jan. 1, 1944. Sentiment for it faded in the face of testimony by military men that they needed more manpower, backed up by the word of Presidential Adviser Bernard M. Baruch.

Congress meantime gave some thought to the votes of the men already in uniform. Steps were taken on legislation allowing the service men and women to vote next year by using a simplified V-mail ballot. The secretaries of War and Navy were asked to give the senate elections committee their views on the idea.

On the house side of the Capitol, a challenge of the President came from an appropriations subcommittee. Chairman Kerr (D-SC) whose group recommended dismissal of three federal employes whose philosophies had been questioned by the Dies committee, said meetings would be resumed to continue this sort of investigating work. President Roosevelt's declarations that the house exceeded its authority by such dismissals was described by Kerr as "nonsense" and "absurd." Any other employes whose Americanism is challenged will be put through the same screen with the same ultimate penalty, it was indicated.

SLAVS BATTLE NAZIS IN TRIESTE STREETS

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 24—Strong Yugoslav guerrilla forces were reported fighting German troops today in the streets of Trieste and threatening Fiume in an apparently coordinated drive against the two Italian ports at the northern end of the Adriatic.

The action was part of a series of new flareups by partisan armies against Nazi occupying forces at scattered points along some 400 miles of the eastern Adriatic shore, all conceivably inaugurated with allied approval.

Yugoslav sources here said Slovene irregulars struck some 25 miles into Italy from the Yugoslavian border and penetrated Trieste, with oppressed inhabitants of that former Italian naval base joining their ranks to attack the Nazi garrison.

Four Nazi Industrial Cities Blasted in Heavy RAF Raids

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 24 — In their second heavy blow in 24 hours against Nazi industrial and transportation centers, a fleet of big RAF bombers blasted four German cities last night, heavily bombing the twin towns of Mannheim-Ludwigshafen and hitting Darmstadt, 35 miles northeast of Mannheim, and Aachen, near Cologne.

Thirty-two bombers failed to return.

The twin cities at the junction of the Rhine and Nekar rivers shuddered under the impact of 1,500 long tons (1,730 U. S. tons) in 45 minutes—17 tons a minute less than the record load dumped on Hamburg—in a sequel to the Wednesday night attack on Hannover.

It was the second big attack in less than three weeks on Mannheim-Ludwigshafen, Germany's second largest inland port, through which large quantities of coal and other vital supplies are transshipped to Italy. Aachen, hit 16 times before, is a key railroad and highway point through which moves much of Hitler's supplies and reinforcements for the west wall.

The three-pronged attack rounded out smashes by American Flying Fortresses and medium allied bombers yesterday to make the 24-hour raids probably the heaviest day and night operations of the war.

Nantes, French Atlantic port, was raided twice in daylight yesterday by the big American bombers, their first repeat raid within 12 hours.

Intruder aircraft, joining the RAF's big bombers in last night's raiding, shot down four enemy planes, the British announced.

Fortifications along the French coast shook in explosions reminiscent of the earlier days of the war.

The Vichy radio, in a report not confirmed by any Allied source, said "American planes" attacked Paris last night, starting a fire in the Magasin Du Midi store. It said one of the raiders was shot down.

Seven Killed As Train Hits Auto at Ohio Crossing

By The Associated Press

WEST LAFAYETTE, O., Sept. 24 — A passenger train smashed into an automobile and killed seven war workers here early today.

Coroner E. C. McDill said the driver of the machine waited for a freight switch engine to clear a crossing near the Moore enameling plant, where the eight were employed, and then drove into the path of the east-bound passenger.

The automobile was struck near the rear and flipped across an embankment. Bodies of the victims were scattered along the right-of-way.

McDill identified the dead as:

Evelyn Carr, 18, of West Lafayette.

Helen Alloway, 17, of Coshocton.

Betty Ashman, 22, of Coshocton.

Charles Barstow, 18, of Coshocton.

Raymond Everhart, 49, of Coshocton.

Vaneta Reddick, 19, of West Lafayette.

Leslie Folger, owner and driver of the car, of Coshocton.

All except Folger were killed outright. He died in a Coshocton hospital.

Dr. McDill said the train was an eastbound Pennsylvania railroad passenger and was reported undamaged.

CRISIS IN HUNGARY

By The Associated Press

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Sept. 23 —(Delayed) — The Rumanian radio told listeners yesterday that the Hungarian government was about to resign and quoted Swiss dispatches as declaring that the Hungarians were seeking a separate peace. (A British broadcast, recorded by CBS in New York today, reported that "a cabinet crisis in Budapest, brought about by the people's wish to follow Italy out of the war, is taking place.)

SENTENCE MARIONITE FOR DRAFT VIOLATION

Follows Brother in Facing Charge in Federal Court.

Norman J. Berry, 29, of 812 North Main street was one of a group of members of Jehovah's Witnesses sentenced to five years in a federal penitentiary and fined $1,000 each in federal court at Toledo yesterday for violation of the Selective Service act, The Associated Press reported today. The entire group, including Berry, classed themselves as conscientious objectors.

Berry, a registrant of Marion county Draft Board 2, was found guilty in the federal court for failure to report for final type physical examination prior to being assigned to work of national importance or to being sent to a conscientious objectors' camp.

Berry appeared before a federal commissioner in Toledo on July 1 and as a result of this hearing was bound over to the federal grand jury. When the grand jury adjourned on Sept. 8 an indictment was returned against him. His final trial was before Judge Frank L. Kloeb in the Toledo federal court on Aug. 16.

A year ago this month, Berry's brother, Donald Berry, was also found guilty for violating the Selective Service act and was sentenced to a federal penitentiary. Both are members of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Receiving the same sentence as Norman Berry were two other Ohioans who are members of the same religious sect. They are Frederick Dyer of Sandusky and Chester Brothers of Norwalk, The Associated Press reported.

GANG OF BOYS HELD IN THEFTS

Six Accused of Stealing Gas Coupons from Cars in Five Counties.

A gang of six boys accused of wholesale theft of gasoline coupons were rounded up by city police yesterday and with them gasoline coupons equalent to 1,600 gallons of gasoline and several other items which have been stolen from cars during the past month in Marion, Union, Hardin, Crawford and Morrow counties. Ages of boys range from 16 to 19. All are residents of Marion.

The youths who either have cars of their own or drive their parents cars, have been pilfering cars mostly for gasoline coupons for some time, police reported. Some of the coupons have been sold.

The first two boys found at 2:30 a. m. yesterday in a car parked on West Center street. The 17 and 18-year-old youths were tearing up paper when police found them and upon investigation they discovered 116 A coupons, 12 B coupons and 27 C coupons in their possession.

Other Arrests Follow

They were taken to city prison and questioned further by police. Two more members of the gang were arrested for investigation before noon yesterday—one 18-year-old on West Center street and a 16-year-old from Harding High school. The 18-year-old had 10 A coupons, one B coupon, 16 C coupons and 44 R coupons in his possession, while investigation proved the other boy had 11 B coupons, 134 A coupons, 25 C coupons, one federal auto stamp, one V fuel oil ration book containing 10 coupons good for five gallons each, issued in Marion, and one with 37 one-gallon coupons, issued in Hardin county.

Another 19-year-old was arrested before noon at a factory where he was employed. Twelve C coupons taken from automobiles in Prospect last Sunday night were found on his person along with 45 A coupons, 1 B coupon, one federal auto stamp stolen in Richwood from a 1936 Plymouth owned by J. Stretter, and an empty B book.

Sixth Arrested

The last member of the gang, a 16-year-old, was arrested yesterday afternoon at 4:15 p. m. Five C coupons were found on his person, but when police went to his home they rounded up 16 A coupons, 11 B coupons and 25 C coupons. In his automobile they discovered two stolen car radios, one which had been stolen from a used car lot on West Church street and the other in Galion this week, a large fog light, four spot lights, two stolen at Harding stadium last Saturday and two

SHOE RATIONING PERIOD EXTENDED TO 6 MONTHS

OPA Orders Change To Conserve Present Supply.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—Take it easy with the brogans, boys. It's going to be a longer time between pairs.

Six months was the period set by the office of price administration (OPA) last night for stretching the next new-shoe ration stamp which becomes valid Nov. 1. The OPA said the new stamp might have to last until May 1.

Heretofore, it's been four months between coupons.

Principal cause, OPA explained, is a critical shortage of leather due to heavy demands for military and industrial uses and for shoe repairing.

In naming stamp No. 1 on the "airplane" sheet of ration book three as the coupon for the next period, OPA also announced that the expiration date of stamp 18 in book one has been extended indefinitely beyond Oct. 31. Its use will overlap the new stamp, which likewise has no expiration date.

Final Plans Made for Richwood Bond Auction Saturday

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, Sept. 24 — More than 60 hard to get items will be put on the auction block Saturday night when the Richwood Lions club stages its second community auction in the promotion of war bond sales.

A club committee headed by Tom Navin is completing arrangements for the auction which will be held in the public square at 8 o'clock Saturday night. The Richwood High school band, under the direction of Mrs. Aaron Darnell, will present a 30-minute concert immediately preceding the auction.

The sale will be in charge of Auctioneers John Pfarr Jr. and Jim Cushman. They will offer for sale cases of canned peaches and corn, a 12 pound ham, a wool blanket, a half ton of coal and other items. The merchandise donated to the Richwood Lions club by merchants of the community equally interested in the success of the current Third War Loan campaign.

The auction was arranged by the club to serve as a stimulated in the Union county community's Third War Loan effort. Richwood already has met and exceeded its quota of $38,000, but the township is considerably short of its $83,000 assigned quota. The committee in charge of arrangements hopes that the combined quotas of Richwood and the surrounding community, $88,000, will be equalled if not exceeded directly as a result of the auction Saturday night.

2,600 ELECTRIC LINE EMPLOYES TO STRIKE

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24 — A strike of 2,000 Pacific Electric railway employes was ordered into effect at 2 p. m. today (Pacific war time) after a union grievance committee disregarded President Roosevelt's last-minute efforts to avert a walkout.

Armed guards were posted on all terminal stations, electric cars and buses, and cordons of police were deployed to prevent violence as the line's 1,100-mile passenger-freight service connecting Los Angeles and 55 surrounding communities faced complete paralysis.

O. A. Smith, Pacific Electric president, expressed hope that some facilities might be kept in operation.

Meantime, Army and Navy authorities proceeded with plans to move as much war freight as possible with their own vehicles.

Final decision to proceed with the strike, arising from the workers' demands that their salary maximum be increased from 87 cents to $1 an hour, was ordered by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen's grievance committee after it met to consider President Roosevelt's latest peace overture.

The President had ordered a special railway mediation panel established to consider wage adjustments.

NEW LEGION HEAD CAME UP THROUGH RANKS

Entered World War I as Private. Rose to Captain.

By The Associated Press

OMAHA, Sept. 24—Warren H. Atherton, Stockton, Calif., lawyer, elected national commander of the American Legion yesterday, came up the hard way.

He entered the Army in the first World war as a private and came out a captain.

The 51-year-old commander, a native of San Francisco, served in many offices of the local Legion post at Stockton before becoming department commander in California, national executive committeeman, and finally national commander.

Prime objective of the American Legion now, he says, "is to use its cross-section of American people to make the adjustments necessary to bring the maximum efficiency out of manpower."

He believes a universal service act—long sought by the Legion, is the best method of achieving that goal.

"The government should have the authority to require people to do the most necessary thing to win the war," he says.

He believes in compulsory military training for both young men and women in peace time, adding that it is his opinion that "we have been precipitated into two world wars because the enemy has underestimated the strength of the United States."

BUCYRUS CORN SHOW QUEEN IS CROWNED

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Sept. 24—Six years ago a group of Bucyrus civic minded men decided to experiment to see if Bucyrus could do with corn what Van Wert does with peonies; Holland, Mich., does with tulips and Circleville does with pumpkins and sponsored the first Crawford county corn show.

This week the sixth annual show is being staged in downtown Bucyrus, an event grown to a highlight for both rural and urban Crawford county each fall.

Thursday night, the opening night of the three-day and night event, a Corn Queen received her crown in a ceremony which is becoming traditional with the Corn show. Surrounded by her court of girls selected by each of the county's ten consolidated schools, Miss Joan Brett received her crown from Miss Helen McGraw, Bucyrus High school senior and official hostess of the Corn show.

Attired in formal wear, the girls took their places on the gaily decorated stand on Washington square following a short concert by the Bucyrus High school band under the direction of Robert Hofstetter.

In addition to receiving her crown, designed of copper and crested with a large V and set with red, white and blue jewels, Miss Brett was presented with a diamond ring by Lt. Col. Frank E. Cheshire, a gift from the O. L. Landes jewelry store.

Merchandise supplied by Bucyrus merchants was sold at auction for war bond purchases throughout the remainder of the evening.

The afternoon was devoted to judging of corn shocks and corn, entered in displays on the square. Winners will receive their awards at 8 p. m. Saturday.

Bond sales at the Corn show Thursday night boosted the Crawford county bond drive over the three quarter mark and sales tonight and Saturday, with the mopping up by block workers in a house to house canvas Monday and Tuesday, is expected to find the drive over the $2,921,000 quota.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"I was just tellin' my brother Fred this morning, Judge...there's never been a time in our lives when we got to live up to that old sayin' 'United we stand, divided we fall' more than we have to today."

"How true that is, Herb. And for the life of me, I can't figure out why, at a time like this, some folks insist on raising a question like prohibition. I can't imagine anything that would tickle our enemies more than to get us folks over here taking sides against each other, arguing about an issue like that. We've got a he-man's job on our hands to win this war and we can't be wasting our minds, our money and our strength fighting about something we tried for nearly 14 years and found couldn't work.

"I say there's a time and a place for everything, and this is no time or place to be doing any fightin' except the kind that's going to win the war."

Improvement of Ohio River Proposed for Post-War Era

By JOHN FRYE
Associated Press Writer

CINNATI, Sept. 24 — The ...er, one of the nation's ...pathways of commerce ...nsion, may get a gradual ...sive resurfacing and at ...ve more feet of water in ...nel in the decade after ...

...men the length of the ...stream are discussing a ... include in any post- ...lic works program re- ...ent of many of the 46 locks ... now maintaining a ... channel. The ultimate ... be a canalized stream ... half that many dams, ... and in locations demon- ...by experience to be more ...

...tion, the advisability of ... channel, at least 12 feet ...bly even 20 feet in some ... is being studied. The ...ers and harbors commit- ...ed the Army engineers ... to determine the feasibili- ...cost of the 12-foot project.

Many Dams Are Old

...familiar with the dam ... which so far is strictly ...al, explain that although ...present prroject was com- ...only in 1929, many of the ... are 40 to 50 years old. They ... be replaced some day and, ...er men say, should be re- ... when necessary by some ... considering the river as a ... instead of just the section immediately affected by any dam in question.

Resolutions for presentation to the house rivers and harbors committee and the senate commerce committee have been prepared by organizations interested in development of the Ohio valley. They urge complete review of the project of 1902 under which the Ohio was brought to its present state.

River men support the idea with a contention that the present locks frequently are unable to handle without some delay the terrific burden of traffic now moving.

War shipments have pushed the annual tonnage figures far above the 29,549,275 of 1940, the last year for which totals were published. The 1942 tonnage was reported unofficially at an unprecedented 38,000,000-plus, or more than six times the peak of the first World war, 6,171,412 in 1918.

Often five or six tows of 10 to 20 barges each are delayed at a lock, awaiting their turns to go through. The river stage is high enough more than half the year to permit opening the navigable passes in the dams and thus eliminate the necessity for locking, but during the summer months traffic is held up.

Would Reduce Delays

Ultimate halving of the number of dams would reduce the possibility of this delay as well as cut the number of times a tow would have to stop for locking, river men said. In addition, they said, better location of new dams in straight stretches would eliminate hazardous currents and blind approaches now hampering tows at some dams.

River interests urge at least experimental use of hydraulic wickets, recently developed by Lt. Col. Charles W. Wellons, head engineer of the Pittsburgh engineers office. The wickets are dropped to the bed of the river when the stage is high enough to maintain the nine-foot depth without dams, and raised on a falling river.

At present this is done from barges equipped with cranes, but if the hydraulic system prove successful, the whole dam could be opened or closed from controls on the bank. The expected efficiency of the hydraulic wicket, as demonstrated in tests at Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh, may make the 12-foot or deeper channel easy to attain, some authorities say.

River men indicated that although the four fixed dams, which can not be opened, would be kept, all future dams would be of the movable type. These four — the Montgomery, Emsworths, Dashield, and Gallipolis dams in the upper river—have been criticized because they can not be passed when lock chambers are flooded.

While admitting the possibility of a decline in traffic after the war, river men declare the new project would pay for itself in increased use of the river. The present project cost about $200,000,000 in original construction and maintenance, spread over nearly 60 years.

OPA Checking On Meat Price Lists

A check of retail meat stores in Columbus and central Ohio by OPA price panel assistants, part of a nationwide drive ordered by OPA general manager, Chester Bowles, is expected to be completed for this district by Oct. 1, OPA officials at Columbus said today.

While no tabulation has been made of violations found, it was reported some meat dealers are not complying with the orders which require posting of prices on all cuts of meat so that the consumer may be able to check prices against OPA ceiling prices.

The meat survey is one of the first projects in OPA's new program of consumer-merchant cooperation in enforcing price control regulations, they said. OPA provides dealers with posters showing official prices for different grades and cuts of meat.

Tanks Fail To Oust U. S. Troops

BY RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Correspondent Representing the Combined American Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN FIFTH ARMY, Sept. 21 — (Delayed) — An American force has driven deep into the mountains on the Nazi-Battipaglia line after enduring 100 hours of continuous shelling and beating off a series of German assaults unequalled in this campaign for fury and determination.

When the unit moved forward it was virtually the first time in four days that the men had left their slit trenches.

"Tanks ran right over some of them," said Maj. Theodore Klein of Jackson Heights, N. Y., "but they were still in the trenches and fighting when German infantry came up behind."

The battle took place on the plain below the towns of Eboli and Battipaglia, where the Germans made their greatest and last effort to drive the American forces from the mountains to the sea and split the allied armies holding the gulf of Salerno beachhead.

Nazis Held Hills

The Nazis held the hills and mountains overlooking the plain and had the high ground bristling with artillery. The Germans fired on every visible target below them and no movement was possible without enemy observers spotting it.

"So there was nothing we could do but adopt defensive positions and wait," said Capt. Lee Bishop, of Canyon City, Colo. "The men had never been forced on the defensive before and it was hard on their morale."

German artillery fire was practically continuous. Two or three times a day it would increase to a thunderous crescendo and then the tanks would rumble out from behind their cover at the foot of the mountains and hit the American positions.

The men never cracked or moved back out of line even though their front positions were held only by infantry without anti-tank units.

It was during these assaults that the tanks frequently passed over the trenches.

"It was the damndest thing to see the men pop up from their holes behind the tanks and open up on the German infantry," said Lt. Joseph Driscoll of Dorchester, Mass. "It takes plenty of guts to stay in your trench and let nearly 40 tons of steel run over you but they did it."

But Pvt. John Smith of Astoria, Long Island, who endured this experience several times, said:

"You haven't got time to worry. You hear and feel and awful roar and then if the trench won't cave in on you, it's all over."

German infantry attempted to come with or close behind their tanks, but when armored assaults couldn't drive the Yanks to cover the enemy soldiers were "sitting like ducks" for machine guns.

"We had two at either end of our section of the line and we cut them down like wheat every time they bit there," said Lt. George Evans of San Antonio, Tex.

Artillery of one American unit alone fired 870 shells in less than four hours, backed by shelling from warships, finally forced the German guns from their positions and drove back the enemy infantry itself.

But not before a furious artillery duel that exceeded even the worst periods of the five preceding days and one more tank attack.

Christian Mission Services To Begin on Sunday Night

DR. E. STANLEY JONES

All arrangements have been completed for the countywide mass meetings at which Dr. E. Stanley Jones, noted missionary-evangelist, preached and author, will be the speaker. Dr. Jones will close a similar six-day Christian mission in Plattsburg, N. Y., tonight, and will come from that city directly to Marion for the Marion County Christian mission, beginning Sunday night in Calvary Evangelical church at 7:30 p. m., and continuing each evening throughout the week.

Dr. Paul Turner

Dr. Paul E. Turner, Negro pastor and musician of Chicago, co-worker and friend of Dr. Jones, will lead the congregational singing at the mass meetings each evening and will also sing solos throughout the services. Dr. Turner is a graduate of the Cleveland Conservatory of Music, and is now pastor of the Harvey Memorial Community church, Chicago. Prior to entering the ministry, Dr. Turner had entered the legal profession and was a practicing attorney in Chicago.

Dr. Jones is a world traveler. A year ago he traveled in every country of South America, speaking to student groups at religious gatherings in the principal cities of that continent. Last June he visited Mexico and spoke in different parts of that nation under sponsorship of the National Evangelical Council of Mexico. After spending most of July as leader of the several Christian Ashram retreats in the United States, Dr. Jones has again begun his schedule of Christian missions in American cities. Marion is one of many cities Dr. Jones will visit during the autumn and winter.

"Dr. Jones comes to Marion with a world outlook of the problems and ills of the human race, and his messages each evening will bring an authoritative viewpoint upon the major problems of life in an uncertain and war-torn world," Rev. Germans Claim 21 Ships Sunk in Convoy

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 24—The Berlin radio reported today that German submarines had made a surprise attack on a heavily escorted allied convoy enroute to America, sinking 12 destroyers and nine merchant ships totaling 48,500 tons.

The German broadcast, which was recorded by The Associated Press, was unconfirmed by any allied source, but it recalled Prime Minister Churchill's statement in the house of commons Tuesday that an allied convoy was at that moment under attack.

Churchill made his statement in disclosing that the allies had not lost a single ship to enemy submarines in the North Atlantic in the four months ending Sept. 18—a fact that later was confirmed unofficially by the German radio.

Chardon High School Students Turn Farmer

By The Associated Press

CHARDON, O., Sept. 24—Chardon High school's entire student body stayed away from classes this week to engage in a mass farm harvesting effort—with family approval.

All of the 200 students were absent four days this week and will remain out today and four days next week to help harvest crops and perform other early autumn chores.

This is a remarkable contribution to the food front in this war and the school has set an example that may well be followed over Ohio," said Ford Quigley, emergency farm labor official from Geauga and Lake counties.

Crediting Schools Superintendent George Talbot and his faculty with providing extra farm hands from the high school, Quigley said "food is being saved from waste in orchards and farms."

Escorting cruisers and gunboats rescued about 700 of the survivors, some of whom were landed here, and a few others were picked up by launches from the Baleares.

Look Who's Talking

WHENEVER it questions an administration policy, Congress is accused of playing politics, a charge that will be made frequently as next year's national election comes closer.

It will be proved false—and with good cause—that congressmen are building political fences with an eye to next year's votes.

But since when has it been a political misdemeanor for congressmen to square accounts with voters? That is the way representative democracy works. That is the way a government responsible to the people it governs is supposed to work.

Before the accusation that congressmen are running for office and devil take the hindmost is taken too seriously it is important to know who's talking. Who is blaming the representatives of the people for trying to decide what the majority of the people want and trying to give it to them?

The accusers are found in two classes. In the first class are those who know exactly what they are saying and intend to keep right on saying it. Their aim is to discredit congress with the people. They want to develop a strong executive government at the expense of anything that happens to stand in the way—the judicial branch, or the legislative branch. They are the bitter-ending New Dealers who once exulted in a campaign to make congress a "rubber stamp." They are the minority in the United States that needs watching—the minority that claims it alone knows what is good for the people and what they should get.

In the second class are Americans who have fallen into the bad habit of copy-catting slanders on congress without realizing what they are doing. Instead of being grateful for a chance to be represented in legislative debate and action, they betray their own interests by criticizing their representatives—accusing them of playing politics as though the only politics played in the United States government was by congressmen. Everything about government is politics of one kind or another, and it is time right now to dispense with the vicious propaganda that it is wrong for congress to perform its duty in the system of checks and balances that keeps the republic from turning into an autocracy.

When Smoke Is Not a Nuisance

SMOKE belongs with chilly weather, to give savor to its odors. There are almost as many varieties as there are substances to burn, but the typical autumn smoke list is confined to a favored few.

Heading the list if, of course, wood smoke, subject to almost infinite classification. Except for a discerning few, however, wood smoke in the fall is—wood smoke, with pleasant associations of marshmallow toasting, wiener frazzling, camping, picnicking and many vaguely remembered but precious recollections of childhood.

Next would be leaf smoke, which resembles many other rare odors in the delicacy of the portions required for pleasure; too much at once is not a perfumery but a stench. It is undeniable that millions never have smelled leaf smoke, yet even they would recognize it as an autumn odor.

Coal smoke certainly would be included, perhaps over the objections of those who do not know there is a time when it is not a nuisance. It is at its best toward dusk drifting upward from a grate fire into the frosty air. And one must mention grass smoke, rubbish smoke and even tobacco smoke. In the September air, they are different; i.e., better.

Emergency Ships

THE navy's pride in its great and still growing strength is reassuring to civilians on every count but one. Civilians can't be blamed for wishing that something could be done about the tendency to build ships—all kinds of ships—in national emergencies.

Unit by unit they are the most expensive war equipment needed in wartime. A tremendous force of manpower is needed to fabricate them, and back of the fabrication is a vast network of industrial production. Yet, in World war II the United States has had to tie up an important section of its war production potential in the construction of something that is not essentially different in design from its counterparts in World war I, when the same thing happened. Costs in all categories have been raised by the effects of war. And between the wars, shipyards lay idle and their skilled manpower was dispersed.

The navy and the United States are proud of being able to build ships the hard way when they are needed; they have done it twice. Before they are forced to do it again, a national policy recognizing that American dependency on naval strength for survival entails a systematic shipbuilding schedule should be given consideration by both major political parties. As long as ships must be built continuously for American security, they should be built in the most, not the least, advantageous way.

FEELING BETTER NOW

All foes of regimentation must be elated at this new turn of affairs, as the monotonous perfection of ready sliced bread gives way to the charming irregularity of the home cut. —Detroit News.

News Behind the News

Russians Push On, But There's Little Indication Nazis Are Cracking.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—Steady, terrific Russian pressure is being the key to tonight's [illegible] expected German withdrawal on the southern end. At the vital Nazi-held railroad running through Melitopol into the Crimea, the Nazis prepared to make a desperate stand. In no other way could they hold their Black Sea island fortress after the railroad or the other transportation, except by boat, to supply the Crimea.

But to what extent the threat to break through, what popularly but not very accurately has been called the Dnieper river line. Actually, the curving Dnieper runs considerably behind the Melitopol line and does not enter anywhere near the Baltic in the north. If the Russians can force withdrawal from the entire Crimea, they will have won an important victory, although the Germans may still be in front of the Dnieper river at that point.

Unofficial guessers current in Washington have it that the Reds might be expected to crack through the prepared Dnieper position at Kiev or elsewhere and bring an early conclusion to the war on that front. Anyone's guess is good. No one has been very good at judging the real extent of Russian prospects in advance.

Prisoners Not Mentioned

Absence of any mention of prisoners being taken on either side in the communique has inspired some interpretation that the Russians are cutting the Germans to pieces. Those who hold that view expect an early conclusion. But lack of prisoners may be because the Nazis have not been trapped in large numbers of late and can not establish any forward movement to enable them to take Russians.

Neither side signed the Geneva convention on treatment of prisoners. Neither has given any guaranty that the regular procedure of incarcerating them will be followed in preference to "no quarter." The Germans have complained frequently of "Russian barbarism and savagery." This has led some interpreters to believe the Nazis might well prefer to welcome the British and American armies into Berlin before the Russians, but it is also true that the Nazi methods are closer to the Russian methods than to those of the democracies.

There is no way to play enemies against each other.

In the end, of course, wisdom should cause them to seek peace with us first, for the protection of their people. But they know we have an understanding with Russia which promises that none of the Allies will make a separate peace.

No Signs of Collapse

The theory of an early collapse on the Russian front has been spread in congress where a high military official testified that the Germans "are retiring more or less behind the Dnieper line." What he apparently had in mind was the break on the Melitopol railroad which would threaten the Crimea.

An obstacle to the Russian advance is the rainy season now starting. A slushy period, difficult for full-scale action, will precede the freeze. No symptoms of utter demoralization are apparent in the Nazi retreat. A very strong action was fought by the Germans in retiring from Kharkov toward the Dnieper, even at Kiev. In the north around Smolensk, they have been holding strong.

Some are impressed by the extreme youth of Nazis captured in Italy and Sicily, accepting it as an indication that Hitler is dipping into his last store of man power. True, the prisoners have been youths. But no official authority is counting on Germany's collapsing this winter, either on the Russian front or in western Europe. But they will be glad to hear any convincing evidence or news to that effect.

Demands Right To Pay

By The Associated Press

HUTCHINSON, Kas. — The cashier at a Hutchinson cafe asked the customer if he had a penny to pay his sales tax.

"No," he said, "you'll have to take it out of my change."

"Oh, that's all right," said the cashier. "We'll let it go this time. It all averages up."

"No sir!" said the customer, almost shouting. "You can't do that. Take it out!"

He was Bert E. Mitchner, director of revenue and taxation and in charge of collecting the state sales tax.

Prisoner in the Holy See

HIS HOLINESS Pope Pius XII at service in Vatican City.

By ZACHARY TAYLOR
AP Features Writer

AGAIN the Pope is the Prisoner in the Vatican.

Hitler's Nazis are by no means the first Germans to desecrate the Holy See. Down through the centuries, the German hordes, pagan and Christian, have sporadically swept through the Brenner and into Rome.

Call it divine justice or fate, but such violations of the sacred Vatican often have meant disaster for the perpetrators. In mounting guns within Vatican walls, in forbidding services in St. Peter's, Hitler takes a step which Mussolini avoided.

The French have an old saying: "Qui mange du Pape en meurt" (Who eats of the Pope, dies) which has some validity.

Alaric Plundered Rome

There was young Alaric of the Germanic Visigoths who plundered Rome in 410. Pope Innocent I fled to Ravenna. In a few months, Alaric was dead at 34, while campaigning in southern Italy.

The Vandals plundered Rome in 455, but Pope Leo the Great successfully pleaded for the lives of the Romans and the Germans withdrew without harm to Leo.

Theodoric the Great and his victorious Ostrogoths became patrons of Pope John I until his influence reached even to Constantinople. The jealous Theodoric jailed the Pope at Ravenna in 526. The confinement killed the aged John I—and Theodoric died a few weeks later.

Another Attempt

Probably the most notable struggle of the Middle Ages was between Henry IV and Pope Gregory VII. The Pope upheld the papacy as a divine institution. Henry IV was infuriated — and excommunicated. In January, 1077, outside Canossa castle, he stood for three days in a penitent's robes wailing for forgiveness.

Red-bearded Frederick I (Barbarossa) swept into Rome with his conquering legions in 1166 because Pope Alexander III refused to acknowledge imperial supremacy. Frederick put his own man (Pascal III) on the papal throne. Then his armies were decimated by a plague. Another attempt to march on Rome ended in defeat in 1177 — and with Frederick kissing the feet of Alexander.

His grandson, Frederick II, devastated Rome on two occasions, and Pope Innocent IV fled to Lyons. In 1246, the Pope declared Frederick deposed. War soon became general in Europe. In 1248, Frederick's own court was massacred. His empire fell, and he died, broken-spirited, in southern Italy.

Defeat For Napoleon

Napoleon and Pope Pius VII were constantly at odds. Napoleon was excommunicated in 1809 upon the invasion of Rome. On July 5 of that year he took the Pope prisoner into France. They had many stormy meetings, the Pope opposing Napoleon's divorce of Josephine, the deposition of cardinals and bishops, the seizure of papal states.

But defeat reduced Napoleon to exile. Even before his fall, in 1814, he released the Pope, and, ironically enough, it was Pius VII who interceded with the British to permit Napoleon to have a chaplain during his last days.

The Italian Victor Emanuel I, first Italian king, was the last before Hitler to take possession of the Vatican by force. In 1870 he seized Rome and other church lands. Pope Pius IX protested, and would not accept the annual remuneration allowed by the Italian government. Thus began the self-imposed "imprisonment of Popes" that continued to the time of Mussolini and the "liberation" act of 1929, signed by Victor Emanuel II, grandson of the original conqueror.

Today, the Vatican is surrounded by a new German horde, and Pope Pius XII, one of the most skilled diplomats in the world and head of 350,000,000 Roman Catholics, faces a new chapter in papal history—and Hitler.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Sept. 24, 1923.

The final issue of the Marion Tribune, Marion morning newspaper, carried an announcement of its consolidation with The Marion Star.

Treasury officials estimated the government ledger would show a surplus of $400,000,000 for 1923 as a result of steadily increasing income and the administration's economy program.

President Calvin Coolidge, speaking before the annual convention of the American Red Cross, declared that hope of real progress in the future lay in the knowledge that "civilization is coming to rely more and more upon moral force" rather than armies and navies, for the settlement of world problems.

K. C. Frey, manager of Hotel Marion, and Mrs. Frey returned after spending the week-end at Portsmouth.

Announcement was made that about Nov. 15 the Grand theater would be opened by E. F. Sharpless and G. H. Foster for showings of vaudeville and legitimate shows. Operating under the name of the Marion Photoplay Co., they bought the theater from Milo Shaw of Apollo, Pa.

How Doth the Busy Little Bee

A War Report from the Hives.

THIS has been a hard year for the nation's 250,000,000,000 honey bees, reports the Wall Street Journal in line with its policy of keeping track of big business. Bad weather conditions—for bees—have cut honey production about one fourth below normal output.

Even so, there still will be about 150,000,000 pounds of honey and three million pounds of beeswax, which performs something liks 400 vital tasks in war industry. Meanwhile, the most important thing that bees do—pollination—will have been performed capably.

Nobody gets paid for this, but if it weren't done there would be a terrific penalty on fruit growers and even Victory gardeners. All non-citrus fruits require cross-pollination. Beans, cucumbers, berries, cantaloupe, peppers, squash and watermelons require insect pollination.

Bees get lots of help from other insects, but the other insects are growing fewer. To make up the shortage the department of agriculture has been promoting beekeeping not only for honey and beeswax but for fruit and vegetable production.

Consumption of honey expanded importantly when Mrs. Roosevelt said in a radio chat with Secretary of Agriculture Wickard on Dec. 15, 1941, that it would be an ideal sugar substitute. Listeners responded with a rush to the grocers, and, when that supply was gone, with a rush to manufacturers of bee supplies, thinking to grow their own. The New York office of the A. I. Root Co. of Medina was forced to close its doors for several days to build up stocks.

Beekeepers, of course, responded with a valiant effort to boost the bee population, but last year's honey crop was below par and as a result many bees died of starvation over the winter month. That bad luck was followed by bad weather this spring. Even selective service left its mark, by removing skilled beekeepers. However, like all other industries, the bee business is making the best of it.

"A worker bee makes about ten round trips daily, traveling as much as six miles from her hive. Her average nectar load is about one-third of her body weight. In her lifetime she may collect 1-150th of a pound of nectar. Enzymes of her digestive juices turn this into one-half or one-quarter as much honey, changing complex nectar sugars into dextrose and levulose, simple sugars which man or insect can assimilate without further digestion.

"Apiculturists, with nets over faces and trousers tucked into boots, but barehanded, must handle bees frequently to examine them for various diseases, including dysentery. In late spring and early summer the keeupers must examine hives weekly to see if the bees need more room for their honey. If so, they get a new addition to their hive, a 'super'. Supers vary, depending on whether comb honey or strained honey ultimately is desired. If bees don't get new supers at the right time, they may swarm to parts unknown, or deposit honey helter-skelter, leaving the queen bee no place to lay her eggs. Being the most orderly of creatures, the bees become frustrated, lose interest in honey gathering, become sluggish and worthless."

Our Brooklyn Friends Appear To Be Doing Themselves a Job in the Work Out in California.

By DAMON RUNYON

Mr. Joe Turp writes from Hollywood:—

DEAR SIR My wife Ethel and I are making a nice time out here because she squashed one of her fingers plant where she is making airplanes and is to take a layoff.

So she is able to go around with her finger in a big bandage and I am glad of it as it is pretty lonesome being in a strange town all by yourself and spending your time waiting for your wife to come from work.

I ses Ethel it is a wonderful break for me that you squashed that finger. I ses it could not have been better if you had done it on purpose because I was getting very tired not seeing you oftener and then when you got worn out from working. I ses I had much company when I was in North Africa.

She ses why Joe you don't think I have a finger like this on purpose do you. It hurts terribly and besides this bandage is the ughest thing I ever saw in my life. I can see why they can't have pretty bandages and asked the doctor to fix my finger up in some thing cerise because that is my favorite color but he only laughed at me. Don't you think I am awfully ugly Joe?

I SES baby it don't make any difference how ugly it is because it is a war wound the same as mine and anyway I think everything about you is beautiful and Ethel ses is it really a war wound Joe? You know I did it with a hammer and I am afraid it was my fault because I was careless. I ses yes it is a war wound all right sweetheart because you got it doing war work. I ses everyone that is hurt while they are doing war work gets a war wound. I ses they are fighting on the battlefield of the home front so they are really wounded in action and you can be proud of your finger Ethel.

She ses why Joe I never knew you could talk like that. You speak wonderfully and you almost make my finger stop hurting only I wish the bandage wasn't so ugly. Look how it makes my finger stick straight out so everybody can notice how ugly it is. I wonder if I couldn't tape it in something cerise to make it prettier.

I ses Ethel that color would only make people notice your finger all the more and besides it is nothing to be ashamed of considering how you got it. Ethel ses yes but people will not know how I got it unless I wear a sign telling them and of course I can't do that can I? I must think of something to make this bandage prettier.

I SES if you wore your fur muff you could keep your finger hid in it and she ses why Joe the ladies out here never wear muffs because it is never cold enough. People would think I was crazy and besides I left my muff back in Brooklyn. What was it you said about my finger being a war wound Joe?

I ses I told you it is the same thing as a war wound because you got it while you were doing war work. She ses what else was it you ses about us fighting on the battlefield of the home front? I ses you have got it down pat Bright Eyes. She ses I think thats the most beautiful thing I have ever heard Joe even if it doesn't sound like you. I ses well to tell you the truth Ethel I read it in the paper this morning but it goes for me the same as the guy who wrote it.

Yours truly
JOE TURP.

Without Equal

By Truman Twill

THERE is nothing quite like a freezerful of homemade ice cream.

This is because the freezer hadn't been used for at least three years and was discovered overhead in the garage where squirrels and birds had been using it as a summer resort and moisture had caused rust on the internal workings.

The flavoring material that was to have been used—the finest of fresh fruit juices, no less—fell into the hands of unscrupulous ice box raiders and was irreparably lost. The substitute used was not up to standard, being a sort of composite of assorted tastes and flavors.

The ice was obtained in the course of a journey that consumed two coupons in an A book and touched on no less than five points which formerly sold ice but went out of business so long ago that denizens of the neighborhood can't even remember when that might have been. Probably no ice cream ever was made before with ice battered to pieces in a barehand encounter, either.

The salt to make the ice melt and thereby to make ice cream freeze was of the purest variety obtainable under the circumstances, the circumstances being that no one remembered to get rock salt so table salt had to be rounded up in spoonfuls and driblets.

Fortunately, it was high quality salt because some of the salt water leaked into the ice cream due to the fact that the hole in the side of the freezer was plugged up with old leaves and spiderwebs. This gave the ice cream a tangy goodness never duplicated in commercial preparations.

Agitation for the job was furnished by [illegible] labor, as in many other wartime projects. Payment was in dasher-licking when the job was finished. Incentive was furnished by [illegible] full dishes of the finished product to be passed around wholesale, but naturally when the [illegible] came there wasn't enough to go around.

However, it was justifiable because [illegible] nothing like homemade ice cream. Where else could a consumer expect to drink ice through a straw? What other method would mix sugar from an aging dasher with every spoonful? Where else could ice cream be produced with so much inefficient and misguided labor?

What other system has been devised for making reluctant eaters stuff down more ice cream than they want because if they don't the ice will melt and efforts of so many and so fumbling, hands will be wasted?

So They Say—

If agreements and understandings cannot be reached which will make a free world in which to trade, then man-made shackles against will restrict the free flow of goods.—J. R. Rivers, vice president Chase National bank of New York.

The people of Marion County are justly proud of their 3rd War Loan Record

A MAJORITY of our citizens have put their shoulders to the wheel (HAVE YOU?) and the result of this magnificent united effort has written another chapter of patriotic endeavor in the history of Marion County.

Our official quota of $2,829,000 was met and exceeded as of Friday, September 17 and a new quota of $3,500,000 was set by the local drive leaders. This new quota, too, was met and exceeded as of Wednesday, September 22 and now our aim is to reach and exceed a total of $4,000,000.

Let's Keep the Ball Rolling— REMEMBER, the Big Invasion Days are yet to come!

AND every time the watch in your pocket ticks off one second . . . . . the war costs $3,000.00!

Three thousand dollars a second! 265 million dollars a day! Nearly eight billion dollars a month! And there are many, many months of hard and bitter war ahead of us!

War Bonds must provide a great deal of the money your Government needs. That is why YOU must do more than buy your regular amount of War Bonds. Right now, while the 3rd War Loan is on, YOU should dig deeper . . . should buy at least one War Bond EXTRA!

The attack is in full swing. At last our side is doing the attacking! And you, and we, and all of us, must "BACK THE ATTACK!" So forget that we have exceeded our quota, . . . and keep in mind that Germany must be beaten . . . that Japan must be beaten . . . and that YOUR MONEY must help do it!

German Retreat Now Looks Like Dunkerque Rout

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The great withdrawal of Hitler's forces on the Russian front has taken on the color of a rout as to rank with Dunkerque as one of the pivotal events of the whole war.

What started out as a planned withdrawal has deteriorated so rapidly under the pounding power of the Red forces that the German high command is now faced with the problem of whether the Nazi armies can reach their prepared defenses west of the Dnieper river and avert a major disaster. If they do, of course, that naturally they still must look back on one of the most costly retreats of history, both in men and material.

As this is written the unbelievable Red armies are almost at the line of the Dnieper at several points. They're just about where they were two years ago when Hitler was smashing them back with arrogant assurance.

Whole Right Wing Quakes

The whole unwieldly German right wing, stretching 750 miles from Smolensk in the north to the Crimea in the south, is shivering and cracking under the fierce Red assaults. The Russians are close to Kiev and Smolensk, strategic strong-points in the Nazi front.

Moscow is watching the battle for these two cities confidently, expectantly. Smolensk is one of the important crossings of the Upper Dnieper. This ancient city of Boris Godunov, long a prize of wars, is the gateway to Moscow. But it's a gateway that swings both ways, as Bonaparte discovered when his shattered troops fled back through there in the snows of 1812. Kiev, capital of the golden Ukraine for which Hitler sold his soul to the devil, is also a Dnieper crossing which is a life-line for the hard pressed invaders.

This much must be said for the German retreat. Only generalship of the highest order could have preserved even the semblance of a line in face of the terrific Russian striking power. Morale of the Nazi troops also must have been steady to permit of such an operation.

The question now is whether the Germans can steady themselves on the Dnieper line and hold. It would be rash to jump to the conclusion that they can't do this, especially with the fall rains coming to slow the Russians down. However, we're justified in noting that they are in a precarious position.

Hitler's Power Breaking

Whether the Nazis hold on the Dnieper, we are witnessing the breaking up of Hitler's power. He is definitely on the defensive, and will so continue, with lessening resistance, until the end. This doesn't mean that we might not see him undertake further offensives, but anything of that nature will be an act of desperation and still defensive.

All the signs are that the fuehrer's role now is to battle for time—time which he hopes may in some way enable him to maneuver himself into a favorable position for a negotiated peace. It's a safe bet right now that he would jump at any allied terms which would give him a lease of life and allow him to return to his old boundaries. Why, because the German war lords, who represent some of the best military brains in the world, know they are beaten.

That doesn't mean, though, that they aren't going to fight on. They are bound to continue resistance until invasion of the reich is imminent. Then one would expect them to rush for the best terms possible in an effort to avert fighting on home soil.

So far as the Prussian militarists are concerned they wouldn't hesitate to sacrifice Hitler if it would save their own skins. Their trouble is that the allies have decreed their elimination along with Hitler and his "ism." Therefore they too must battle and try to find an avenue of escape.

Can the German people take it? They will stand plenty until they realize there's no hope. Then the cord may snap.

We can't judge the present position by the collapse of civilian morale in the last war. That was impelled in large degree by stark hunger—and few things are more destructive of morale, especially when children are suffering. Thus far the German public appears to have sufficient food, much of it stolen from starving conquered peoples, of course, but still nourishment.

Poll Shows Democratic Party Fortunes Tied to Roosevelt

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 24—As the 1944 political campaign gets under way, it is becoming increasingly apparent that the fortunes of the Democratic party are almost completely tied to one man—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In the course of talking to thousands of Democratic voters representing a true cross-section of the party's rank and file, the Institute has found that Mr. Roosevelt is their overwhelming choice for nominee next year. Additional evidence of the extent to which the party's success at the polls depends on Roosevelt is furnished in a new presidential "trial heat" just completed by the Institute.

In this test race, Henry A. Wallace, the Democratic leader who stands next to Roosevelt in popularity with the party's voters, was pitted against Governor Thomas E. Dewey, the most popular Republican candidate at the moment. Voters were asked to state their choice if presented with the two men as opposing candidates.

The results give Governor Dewey a decided advantage at this time. They show that Dewey would likely carry every section of the country except the South. In terms of total popular vote he would have a 6 to 4 advantage against Wallace.

This is in sharp contrast to the results of a similar trial heat in which Dewey was pitted against Roosevelt himself. In that survey Roosevelt polled a majority.

The contrast, indicating the strength which President Roosevelt's prestige gives to the Democratic party, is shown in tabular form below.

TRIAL HEATS

Dewey	60%
Wallace	40
Dewey	45
Roosevelt	55

KENTON, Sept. 24 — Charles Cross today surveyed the ruins of his grocery store in downtown Dunkirk, and planned to resume business in another location following the most disastrous fire in that northern Hardin county village in several years.

inforcements into the Salerno area and added that the Eighth army is being supplied across the straits of Messina.

Airfields Bombed

Allied bombers last night ranged into northern Italy to Pisa and attacked the railway yards and airfield, the air command announced.

Allied aircraft still was striking heavily at enemy troop movements and concentrations back of the Salerno battle area. Medium bombers hit at roads and road junctions around Cancello and in the area of Capua.

Fighters and fighter bombers patrolled the Avellino and Benevento areas, smashing at motor transports, gun positions and bridges.

The opening of the Adriatic to allied naval forces was vividly pointed up by the foray into Valona harbor across the straits from the Italian heel. This was the first time allied naval forces had struck in that direction since the fighting in Albania and Yugoslavia in 1941 when Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham's cruisers and destroyers made daring dashes into the straits. The bold raid coincided with the campaign of allied forces in the Middle East who have seized Samos and two islands in the Dodecanese.

The communique said two other enemy vessels were hit beside the two sunk.

The air force said the German evacuation of Corsica, island birthplace of Napoleon which is slightly over 100 miles south of the French coast, was going on day and night.

This was the third time since May that the Germans were on the run by air and sea. The first time was from Tunisia and the second from Sicily. In all cases their air transport losses were heavy.

CHARGES U. S. SEEKS INSURANCE CONTROL

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 24 —W. Ellery Allyn, state insurance commissioner, charged yesterday an attempt was afoot to put the insurance business under control of federal government.

In a prepared speech to the Bridgeport Life Insurance Association, the commissioner referred to the recent case brought by the federal government charging a group of fire companies and individuals with violating the anti-trust laws in rate-making. A federal court in Atlanta gave a decision in favor of the companies, and the case has been appealed to the supreme court.

The decision of the justice department to appeal the case, asserted the commissioner, "indicates plainly the determination to remove insurance from its present management and put it under the control of federal bureaus."

"Such action," he said, "will result in immediate chaos in the insurance business. You may be assured that life insurance will be immediately involved."

Allyn told the agents that they had a fight on their hands.

ILLINOIS MINERS SIGN WAGE PLAN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—The United Mine Workers and the Illinois Coal Operators association announced today they had signed a new agreement which would increase the earnings of underground workers an average of $1.75 a day for a five-day week.

This would be accomplished by lengthening the work day and paying for travel time.

The agreement, subject to approval of the war labor board and an increase in the ceiling price of coal, provides an entirely new basis for calculating the work day in bituminous mines.

The work day for underground men will be eight and one-half hours including all time required in traveling from the portal of the mine at the beginning of a shift until they emerge at the end of the shift.

This would supplant the present seven-hour day which covers only actual productive time at the working place.

LEGION BACKS ARMY DRAFT OF FATHERS

By The Associated Press

OMAHA, Sept. 24—The American Legion was committed today to the support of a post-war program indorsing participation by the United States in a post-war association of "free and sovereign nations" to preserve peace.

The Legion in accepting committee reports at the close of its 25th annual convention yesterday gave its approval to post-war cooperation as a method by which "our nation can best serve and protect its natural interests."

Full support of present draft policies of the administration, including taking of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers into the armed services, was seen in adoption of a report submitted by the Legion's national defense committee.

The convention elected—without opposition—Warren Atherton, Stockton, Calif., attorney, national commander to succeed Roane G. Waring of Memphis, Tenn.

Martin V. Coffey of Middletown, O., Ohio department commander, was elected a national vice commander.

Toledo School Strikers Return to Jobs Monday

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 24 — Toledo's 64 public schools, closed since Sept. 15 by a strike of non-educational employes, will reopen Monday under an agreement approved by the strikers and ratified by the board of education.

Proposed by a citizens' committee, the settlement grants a $20 a month wage increase from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31, to maintenance personnel. The strikers first asked $30 a month "cost of living" increases.

Under the agreement, the 300 service employes agree however, to return to the Sept. 1 pay scale Jan. 1 if, in the meantime, a levy fails to pass and other sources of additional income for the board do not materialize.

Funeral of Dr. Williams, Ohio Educator, Set for Tomorrow

Was President Emeritus of University; Son Lives in Marion County.

DR. HOMER B. WILLIAMS

Funeral services for Dr. Homer B. Williams, 77, president emeritus of Bowling Green State university and father of Lloyd Williams of near Morral, will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Private services will be held at 1:30 p. m. and public services will be at 2:30 in the University auditorium. Interment will be in the Oak Grove cemetery, which adjoins the campus.

Dr. Williams died yesterday afternoon in the Toledo City hospital where he had been a patient six weeks. He had been in failing health for some time.

He was widely known throughout the Marion area, having appeared throughout the district frequently as a public speaker most often as a speaker at commencement exercises.

Former Kenton Superintendent

In 1890 while superintendent of the Kenton school system, Mr. Williams married Miss Cora Brewer of Marion county. Mrs. Williams, who survives, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emery Brewer and a sister of the late Edwin Brewer.

Surviving besides Mrs. Williams and the son, Lloyd, are two other sons, Elbert H. Williams, a probation officer in the federal court at Columbus, and John Williams, a Columbus merchant, and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Sanford of Monclova, O.

Lloyd Williams for several years served as a member of the Morral school board and is now serving his first term as a member of the Marion county board of education. He also is treasurer of the Marion County Agricultural Society.

First B. G. President

Dr. Williams was president of Bowling Green when it was first organized as a normal college. Under his direction the institution has successfully been a normal school, state college, and, since 1935, a state university offering training in liberal arts, business, education, and graduate fields.

Born in Mount Ephraim, O., Williams received his preparatory training at Ohio Northern university where he was graduated in 1889. He received the B. A. degree here, the master of arts at Columbia in 1914, the doctor of pedagogy at Miami university in 1914, and the doctor of laws at Bowling Green in 1938.

Following seven years as a teacher in rural and village schools Dr. Williams became superintendent at Caldwell, O., in 1882. In 1889, he became superintendent at Kenton and, in 1892 was elected superintendent at Cambridge. Following two years in this post, he became superintendent of Sandusky schools in 1898 and served in that capacity until his selection as head of the newly organized Bowling Green Normal college in 1913. He became president emeritus in 1937 and has served as alumni director for the past six years.

Dr. Williams was a director of the Bank of Wood County and the Scioto Sign company of Kenton. He was a member of the state board of school examiners from 1904 to 1909 and held membership in Kiwanis, the Masonic lodge, the National Education association, the Ohio education association, the Ohio College association and the Methodist church. Included among his writings are a number of articles for educational publications.

DECLINE IN TRAFFIC CUTS AUTO DEATHS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24 — Wartime transportation restrictions have reduced motor vehicle fatalities in Ohio from an average of 206.7 a month in 1941, the last pre-war year, to 116.4 a month this year, the bureau of vital statistics reported today.

Between Jan. 1 and Aug. 1, bureau figures showed, 815 persons met death as a result of motor vehicle accidents, compared to 1,834 during all of 1942 and 2,481 in 1941.

Of the 815 fatalities in seven months this year, 118 occurred in accidents involving motor vehicles and trains and 10 in automobile-street car crashes.

The state highway department reported 179 traffic accident deaths to Aug. 1 this year on main highways outside of municipalities. In the comparable 1942 period there were 314 fatalities on state highways, against 450 the previous year.

Mrs. Roosevelt on Way Back to Washington

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was heading eastward today to report to headquarters—her husband—what she learned in her 24,000-mile, 28-day journey to Australia and the South Pacific.

"The President said, 'will you try to see as many of the men as you can, and find out how things are going,'" she told interviewers yesterday after arriving by plane from Honolulu. "I don't think I ever worked so hard in my life."

The journey took her to 17 islands, in addition to Australia and New Zealand, and included Guadalcanal, which had been bombed the night before and had an alert the night she was there. She flew 23,145 air miles in 107 hours, 45 minutes.

Young Farm Worker Given Death Sentence

By The Associated Press

CELINA, O., Sept. 24—Seventeen-year-old Louis Vernon Hand, standing erect and grinning broadly, was condemned to death in the electric chair by Common Pleas Judge Raymond Younger today.

Convicted last week for the hammer slaying of Richard Stober, 6, last July 3, Hand was sentenced to be electrocuted in Ohio penitentiary Jan. 14.

Judge Younger, visibly shaken, asked the boy whether he had anything to say.

"I have not," the boy replied.

Those were his first words since he entered court early last week to stand trial on a first degree murder charge.

The B-17's were so dear and needed so badly that the Mercy supreme area was considered too risky ever to leave them there overnight. So they flew hundreds of miles from Australian bases in their fast, sleek, new refuge and returned to Australia for safety.

The members of one unit even flew a mission over Lae the day it finally fell to the allies. Now completed months of combat flying and are going for a well-deserved rest. But their old Fortresses, almost as famous as their pilots in the battle with Zeros, will stay in action as transport planes.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y.—Summer residents at Point Stockholm are saying that fish are so plentiful that no bait is necessary. They tell the story of a 13-year-old girl, Patty Grimshaw, who got the surprise of her life when a two-pound bass jumped right into her lap as she was seated in a rowboat. She held on too, and there was a fish dinner at the Grimshaws that night.

Hospital Addition Nearly Finished, Lacks Equipment

New Unit Not Expected To Be Ready for Full Use Until Late December or Early January.

Construction work on the 50-bed hospital addition to the Marion City hospital is expected to be completed within the next 30 days but because of the delay in advertising for bids on equipment the addition is not expected to be ready for occupancy for a considerably longer period.

Bids for equipment are not due until noon on Oct. 18. They are to be opened at 1 p. m. that day at the city building. Since the bids opening is three weeks away and since delivery can not be expected for an additional month or two it seems likely that it will be impossible to relieve the presently over-crowded hospital building much before the last of December or early in 1944.

Some Parts Finished.

The $150,000 addition, started on June 7, is nearly 90 per cent complete, Paul Jones, superintendent on the project for the Kent Brothers Construction Co. of Columbus, the general contracting firm, estimated yesterday. Many phases of the construction are entirely completed, others are nearing completion.

Installation of acoustical ceiling tile throughout the corridors of the sprawling T-shaped addition is expected to be completed today. The Turner-Brooks Co. of Toledo is maintaining a large staff for this work and for installation of wainscoating and tile flooring. One of the firm's crews is now in the process of completing the application of an asphaltic base coat to floors throughout the building. Tile flooring will be applied to this surface.

Other final steps—installation of windows and door trim and the hanging of doors—are rapidly nearing completion. J. D. Kissell of Geneva, O., electrical contractor on the project, said roughing in of the electrical service has been completed and that by next week the addition would be serviced with power. Either tomorrow or early next week installation of lighting fixtures is expected to start. The electrical force which at the peak of the construction period numbered five journeymen, now includes two electricians besides Mr. Kissell.

Yesterday three painters started to work applying a primer coat to the interior woodwork. Two more painters are to be added next week.

While work on the interior of the addition is being pushed, a group of workmen yesterday started to lay crushed stone for the ambulance entrance leading off of Cleveland avenue. Supt. Jones said a layer of No. 46 stone, a mixture of No. 4 and No. 6 grades, will be applied after the larger stone is rolled and leveled into position. A final binder layer consisting of No. 7 stone will be applied. The finished driveway will probably be given a coating of liquid asphalt to give it a black top effect and to eliminate a possible dust problem.

Constipation?

TRY THIS HEALTH DRINK FIRST

Juice of 1 lemon — In glass of water — first thing on arising

Has a natural laxative effect for most people, and it aids digestion, supplies needed vitamins, builds resistance, too!

Here's a surprisingly simple way to avoid the usual harsh laxatives.

Most people find that the juice of one lemon in a glass of water, taken first thing on arising, is all they need to insure prompt, normal elimination—gently. And lemon and water is good for you.

Lemons Build Health! Lemons are among the richest sources of vitamin C, which restores energy, helps you resist colds and infection. They're the only known source of vitamin P (citrin) and supply valuable amounts of B1. They alkalinize—aid digestion. Millions not troubled with constipation take lemon and water daily just as a health builder.

Why not keep regular with this refreshing morning drink that builds health too? Try it ten days, first thing on arising—see if you don't benefit!

P.S.—LEMON & SODA - Some prefer juice of 1 lemon in half glass water with ½ to ½ teaspoon baking soda (bicarbonate) added. Drink as foaming quiets.

Harding Meets Columbus Tonight; St. Mary Plays at Tiffin Saturday

Capital City Cowboys Tackle Prexies Under Stadium Lights.

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

Columbus West's giant-sized herd of Cowboys will race into Marion stadium tonight where it is scheduled to become entangled in a slam-bang, 48 minutes of football with Marion Harding's Presidents, who seem to possess more spirit and hustle than they did for the rousing one touchdown defeat of Mansfield six nights back. The opening kick-off will be made around 8 o'clock.

Dale Rose, new coach of the Columbus pigskinners, will lead a team boasting an over-all weight average of 157.5 pounds, 158.7 in the line and 156 pounds even in the pony backfield.

These tentative figures mean that the Prexies will begin tonight's contest with an approximate nine pound weight advantage per man.

Coach Vic Dorris of the Presidents said during last night's peppery practice under the stadium lights, "We're going to go all out for victory against West."

The reserved Mr. Dorris (at least before a ball game) supplies almost enough information by that equally reserved statement alone for any local fan to pick the winner of tonight's fray.

West Has Speed

Don't sell the Capital City featherweights short, however. Their 20 to 2 drubbing at the hands of Springfield last week certainly is no sound basis for a forecast. West has speed plus in its backfield, which may make up for the lack of poundage. However, the Marion quartet of backs average only about a pound more than the visitors. It's the line where the outstanding variance in weights is seen. Harding's seven stalwarts come in at 170 pounds a man.

Harding's coaches feared a possible letdown in the spirit of the keyed-up Prexies for tonight's game. However, unless the locals have undergone a complete change overnight, they will have spirit and drive to spare tonight.

Last night's stadium drill was brimming with high-grade morale, from beginning to end. The first, second and third teams, the complete Harding roster, all bubbled over with pep.

Last night's work out consisted

REDS STILL FIGHT FOR SECOND PLACE

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 24—Clinging to a chance to return to second place, the Cincinnati Reds try today to take up where they left off last night against the New York Giants.

They left off at a good point for the 2,088 fans, the smallest night attendance in the history of night baseball in its major league birthplace. The point was one out in the ninth inning, when young Chuck Aleno, up for another big time trial, pinch-singled in the run to give the Reds a 3-2 victory over the Giants.

Lonnie Frey opened the inning with a good bunt and was sacrificed to second. Then Chuck, who hit safely in 17 consecutive games when the Reds had him up last year, batted for Este Crabtree and the ball game ended in a hurry.

Johnny Vander Meer got out of hand in the top half of the ninth and gave Gus Mancuso a single and the next two men walks. Clyde Shoun came in and Johnny Rucker singled the tying run home.

Vandy himself scored the run that should have won in the fifth inning. He and Marshall pulled a double steal during a strikeout. The Reds scored in the first on a walk, a single, and a double play to match the Giants opening run made on three singles.

The victory kept the Reds a half-game behind the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Either Rube Fischer or Ace Adams for the Giants and Ray Starr for the Reds are pitchers for today's games, the Giants' last here this year.

Locals To Try for First Win from Calvert

The Irish of Marion St. Mary High, in much better physical shape than for the Delaware season opener last Friday, will tackle an apparently unshakeable jinx, the Tiffin Calvert parochial outfit at Tiffin tomorrow night. Starting time is 8:15 p. m.

For seven straight seasons, the Calvert gridders have defeated the local Irish. Not once in those seven games has St. Mary even had victory in sight.

Calvert lost its 1943 inaugural to Galion last week, 33 to 6. The NCO wonders, however, outweighed the Tiffins several pounds per man and many fans were surprised that even one t.d. could be marked up against the Orangemen.

Two Hard Drills

Coach Lane McCrate directed the Irish in two of their longest and hardest practices of the season on the Lincoln park ball field Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Both of these drills lasted well over 2 hours and 30 minutes and practically no phase of the game was left untouched.

Not much scrimmage was included in these two strenuous workouts but contact drilling on blocking was a high point of the practicing, according to Coach McCrate.

As for injuries, which almost accounted for an Irish defeat against Delaware, the Marionites seem to be in "fairly tip-top condition." Steve Norris, senior quarterback, probably will be in good enough trim to play most of the Tiffin game. Norris suffered a cut lip during a rough practice about two weeks ago and was recovered sufficiently to resume practicing early this week. However, just as soon as he was ready to go back into action, he hurt his knee when he fell from his bicycle.

The locals came out of the Black Panther contest with only a few battle scars. Probably the most serious was the cracking of a few more ribs on the person of Danny McDonald, first-string guard in the second quarter. McDonald was forced to withdraw from the game at that point after he had been a stand out in halting a Delaware offensive push on the St. Mary 10.

Drill on Offensive

Coach McCrate said his charges "were very weak offensively" against Delaware. A lot of time in practices this week has been devoted to devising ways and means of improving the Irish ground and passing game. The Panthers had an exceptionally strong pass defense and the locals were not able to complete a single toss.

The local parochials' defense against Delaware, however, showed up well, but far from a finished product. As McCrate puts it, his team's defense last week "was a bit ragged at times."

However, he adds that the Irish linemen and backers came through with tackles on or behind the line of scrimmage when they counted. By thus saving their defensive drive until the Panthers had surged too deep in their territory, the Irish were able to preserve a tie.

Danny McGinnis, senior halfback, did all the punting for the Irish last week and probably will do a major portion of it against Tiffin. However, Norris, if he is able to play, is expected to get off a few boots. McGinnis undoubtedly will be called upon to perform the kicking off.

SPORTS THE MARION STAR

Yankees Clinch Pennant Today If They Beat Tigers

By The Associated Press

The long delayed day on which the New York Yankees can clinch the American league pennant under their own power in one game has arrived. All the Bombers now need is to beat the Detroit Tigers this afternoon.

They smothered the Tigers for the second straight time yesterday with lefty Marius Russo showing world series form in a two-hit 1-0 shutout. The only run of the game came on three singles in the first inning and caused Rufus Gentry his second 1-0 defeat since joining the Tigers earlier this month.

This success and Cleveland's split of a doubleheader at Boston eliminated the Indians mathematically. The Washington Senators, who had held on stubbornly to a remote pennant possibility, collapsed before the St. Louis Browns 12-3 in a night game.

Cleveland was overpowered by the Red Sox 13-7 in the first contest, but the Tribe took the nightcap 6-4 with a 15-hit attack of its own.

In the other American league game Orval Grove pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 5-2 verdict over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Alpha Brazle gave up three runs and Harry Brecheen a fourth as the Dodgers defeated the Cardinals 4-3 for Whitlow Wyatt's 10th consecutive triumph and 14th of the year. Wyatt, although he hurt his knee early in the game and limped during the late innings, allowed just eight hits.

The outcome enabled the Dodgers to hold second place in the National league against a 2-2 triumph by the Cincinnati Reds over the New York Giants in a night game.

Pittsburgh was beaten 2-1 by the five-hit hurling of Jim Tobin of the Boston Braves and the Chicago Cubs scored six runs in the sixth to nose out the Phillies 8-7.

MT. GILEAD INDIANS DEFEATED BY CAREY

MT. GILEAD, Sept. 24—Scoring in every quarter, Carey High school football team defeated Mt. Gilead's Indians, 46-0, Thursday afternoon in the first home game of the season.

O. S. U. Bucks Face First 1943 Test Against Hawks Saturday

By FRITZ HOWELL
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24—Ohio State university's football fans will find out tomorrow whether the '43 Bucks look like 43 bucks or 43 cents. Incidentally, there are 43 Bucks on the '43 squad.

Coach Paul E. Brown's kidney-corps drew a "roughie" for the opener being scheduled to clash with the star-spangled Iowa Preflight Seahawk squad which just a week ago wrecked Illinois 32 to 18.

The Ohio outfit is composed of five 4-F veterans who saw some service with last year's Big Ten and national champs, and a flock of freshmen, most of whom are only 17 years old and a couple of months out of high school.

5 Pros With Hawks

Against that array the Seahawks will present a squad with at least five professional players bulwarked by college stars from all parts of the country. The invaders have a definite edge in weight, experience and age.

Last week, against Illinois, Coach Don Faurot of the 'Hawks started an all-cadet team. The starters were in the game just 44 seconds when the officers came aboard to take over against the Illini. Brown expects the same thing to occur here, which explains why he isn't too enthused over the fact the Bucks will be practically even in weight against the preflight starters.

The lineups, announced today, show the 'Hawk starters will average 187 in the line and 179 in the backfield, just one pound over the Bucks in each department. However, when the officers take over, it is a different story. Ohio State will have ... best in there at the start ... at the finish too unless ... pop up, while the invaders ... their talent on what is now ... their second team.

On the Hawk second string ... such luminaries as end ... Schwartz of the Brooklyn Dodgers, center Vincent Banonis of the Detroit Lions, guard Nick Kerbawy of the Columbus Bulls, and ... backs Dick Todd of the Washington Redskins and Frank Maznicki of the Chicago Bears.

The Bucks, boasting a fleet ... inexperienced all-freshman ... field, are expected to show ... ing power. The Ohio defense isn't the best ever seen in the stadium, and pre-game indications were that a scoring spree would usher in the campaign.

The game gets under way at 2 p. m., and attendance is expected to hover around the 25,000 mark.

Scribe Starts His Annual Football Guessing Contest

By ORLO ROBERTSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—Having stuffed our pockets full of good luck charms, we plunge head-first into football's annual guessing game.

Pittsburgh-Notre Dame — Pitt has Coach Clark Shaughnessy, his "T" formation and a host of youngsters. Notre Dame also has the "T" plus Angelo Bertelli. Notre Dame by a wide margin.

Pennsylvania-Princeton — Too many ex-Penn players at Princeton, so it's the Tigers.

Northwestern-Indiana — Otto Graham is back at Northwestern plus plenty of reserves. 'Nough said.

Minnesota-Missouri—The Gophers should whip the Big Six boys.

Great Lakes-Iowa—We'll string along with the Goos.

Michigan-Western Michigan—A breather for both the power-laden Wolverines and the writer.

Ohio State-Iowa Pre-Flight — Looks like Ohio State will drop its first opening game since 1894.

Georgia Tech-North Carolina — A weak vote for the Tarheels.

Navy-North Carolina Pre-Flight —Without hesitation, the Middies.

Army-Villanova—We'll go along with Earl Blaik of Army.

Camp Grant-Wisconsin—We've got to pick the Soldiers.

Marquette-Purdue—The Boilermakers on the first ballot.

Duke-Richmond — Just a light workout for the Blue Devils.

Yale-U. S. Coast Guard (New London)—Ditto above for Yale.

Rochester-Colgate—Colgate.

Penn State-Bucknell—Bucknell.

Cornell-Sampson Naval Station —The Collegians by a shade.

Indians and Birds Need Another Win

By The Associated Press

With a one-game edge over their American association playoff rivals, Indianapolis and Columbus need only a win tonight to qualify to meet each other in the loop's last playoff phase which will determine a representative in the little world series.

Indianapolis won its second game in the 3-out-of-5 sets last night by beating Toledo, 6-4, while Columbus grabbed a two to one margin over the league champion, Milwaukee, with a 6-1 victory.

With the count locked 4-4, the Tribe scored twice in the eighth inning after filling the bases and shelling pitcher Sid Peterson from the mound.

Preacher Roe scattered a mere four blows among the heavy hitting Milwaukee batters while his Columbus mates pounded Owen Scheetz for eight, including damaging three-baggers by Chet Weiczorek and Emil Verban.

LABELL AND HART WIN FEATURE ON ARMORY MAT

In straight falls Rene LaBell and Frankie Hart won over Joe Ferona of Boston and Earl Malone of Chicago in the featured tag team match in last night's Armory wrestling program.

The one hour semi-final event, matching Larry Kasaboski of Canada and Pat Riley of Texas, was won by the latter.

CHIEFS BEAT LEAFS

By The Associated Press

TORONTO, Sept. 24—The best-of-seven Governors cup final playoff series in the International league which resumes in Syracuse tomorrow apparently is to be almost solely a test of pitching strength. Millard Howell pitched three-hit ball in leading the Syracuse Chiefs to a 5-3 verdict over the Toronto Maple Leafs in the series opener Wednesday and last night the story was the same as Nick Strincevich rationed five blows to give Toronto a 6-0 victory.

$5,000 in War Bonds Bought by Prison Lifer

GREENVILLE, S. C., Sept. 24—Alonzo J. Stephens, 48, a life-term prisoner at a state camp near here, purchased $5,000 worth of war bonds at the commencement of the Third War Loan Drive.

Stephens commented that he hoped to buy $15,000 more before the drive closed. His purpose, he said, was to bring the war to an end sooner and prevent "maybe a few more men from dying." Stephens was convicted of murder last year.

K. C. Favored At Delaware Today

DELAWARE, O., Sept. 24—King's Counsel was the favored entry in the $2,500 three-year-old trot, feature event of today's final Grand Circuit race program here. Three other events are listed on the get-away-day card; a free-for-all pace and trot and a trot for Ohio-owned horses.

Probationer, owned by Bowman Brown of Harrisburg, Pa., and driven by Tom Berry, won yesterday's $5,000 Elks stake for two-year-old pacers in straight heats, finishing the first in 2:09½ and the second in 2:10¼.

First money in the $5,000 Olentangy 2:05 bar trot went to Captain January, after elimination heats narrowed the heavy field. The Golding, owned by B. C. Mayo of Tarboro, N. C. and driven by Eddie Havens, trotted the second heat in 2:03½, the best time of the race.

Darnley won the $2,500 three-year-old trot in straight heats and Prince Yakima finished first in two of three heats in the condition pace.

HARDING

of play reviews, drilling on passing and other fundamentals.

Orth Injures Knee

Vernol Orth, 195-pound senior tackle, is the one big question mark in the President lineup for tonight's struggle. He aggravated a knee injury during last night's drilling and was forced to retire to the sidelines after engaging in only about 10 minutes of practice. Wally Bartlett, small in comparison with Orth, replaced Vern in the first-string forward wall. Whether Bartlett will be called upon to fill Orth's shoes against West probably won't be known until game time.

Captain Charley Fazio's right arm bothered him in school yesterday but he appeared to be all right at the nocturnal practice. He is a sure starter.

Coach Dorris formerly thought that Marshall Zuck, junior, might have beaten out Norman Dillinger, a fellow classmate, for the starting left end slot tonight. However, at the latest reports, Dillinger will get the beginning nod but Zuck is certain to see his quota of action.

West's starting lineup will comprise six seniors, four juniors, and one sophomore. The tenth grader is Dick Slager, 162-pound left tackle.

Marion's eleven, if it is the same as for the Mansfield fracas, will be made up of seven seniors and four juniors.

Dale Rose is helped out by R. C. Glass, assistant West tutor. George Williams, Cowboy driller for the past several seasons, is now in the Navy, stationed at Athens, Ga.

Here are the tentative starting lineups for tonight's game with the weights indicated in parentheses:

Marion Harding		Columbus West
Dillinger (158)	L E	Bates (155)
Fazio (185)	L T	Slager (162)
Strobel (165)	L G	Cra'ford (152)

300,000 Draft Age Non-Fathers Reported in Federal Jobs.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—Counsel for a congressional committee investigating draft-deferments for government workers charged yesterday that approximately 300,000 draft-age non-fathers were in government service, and had not been called for induction although less than half actually had been given deferred status.

Ralph Burton, counsel for the house military sub-committee directed to study the government's own deferment policies, made the charge and suggested immediate inquiry into the situation he described.

Sub-committee Chairman Costello (D-Calif), asserting he was surprised by Burton's allegations, said a full investigation would be made.

Burton submitted his figures during committee questioning of members of the three-man review committee set up by the President to pass on deferments of federal workers.

"They are available for call," said Robert M. Barnett, chairman of the review group, when Representative Harness (R-Ind) asked: "How in the name of common sense can that many single men be working down there when they are talking about drafting men with children?"

Barnett said his committee had no responsibility in that matter, its jurisdiction being limited to pass on key positions and to determine which agencies should use replacement schedules.

Burton said official selective service figures indicated that 197,656 draft-age, non-fathers were employed by the government as of Aug. 15, with many agencies unreported. The committee's own estimate, he said, was that the total was closer to 300,000. Employes given deferment as of Aug. 15, Burton said, approximated 116,935.

Col. Edward A. Fitzpatrick, selective service representative on Barnett's committee said the interior department had submitted a list of 6,000 key positions for which deferment was sought, and complained when many of them were turned down.

Fitzpatrick accused the interior department of having failed to "readjust itself to the war effort."

Harness observed that of 3,500 single men employed by the war department at Patterson Field, Ohio, deferments had been requested for only "several hundred."

UTILITY STOCKS GIVEN BACKING

But Many Leaders Unable To Make Much Progress on Recovery Road.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 — Scattered utility preferreds and industrial common stocks exhibited recuperative tendencies in today's market but many leaders were unable to do much in the way of a comeback.

Dealings were about as quiet as those of Thursday. Trends were cloudy at the start and mild irregularity prevailed near the fourth hour.

Engineers public service edged into new high ground for 1943 along with both Alleghany preferreds. Senior issues of Electric Power & Light jumped 2 points or so. Resistant were Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, General Motors, Goodrich, DuPont, Dow Chemical, Western Union, and Texas Co. Losers included Bathlehem, Pennsylvania, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, United Aircraft, Anaconda, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and Standard Oil (N. J.).

COMMISSION BUYING LIFTS WHEAT PRICES

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 — Buying by commission houses, which was believed to represent distillery purchases gave the wheat market a strong undertone today. Strength in the bread cereal was reflected in fractional gains for oats and rye.

A car of new oats, grading No. 1 white heavy, sold in the cash market at 84 cents a bushel. Dealers said this was the highest price in 23 years for this grade of oats.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

"YOU SEE," my father went on, "I dare not trust Ronald with letters until the last minute. He is too desperate with terror for Marion. When the time for the action comes, he will be keyed up for action, and will realize what a wrong move on his part would mean.

"Also, if he never is left alone he can be of use in watching with the glasses in the apartment we are renting opposite the restaurant from which Marion sent the message to us by the waiter, Crumm. But before my plan is perfected, I want to keep him busy. Ah, I fancy that is his knock now."

Welcomes Ronald

He walked to the door, opened it the length of the night chain, and then I could hear his voice in cordial welcome.

"Ah, Ronald, come in," he said. "You have finished the letter, I gather."

He ushered the boy inside and placed a chair for him. But Roland did not sit down until my father had seated himself.

"Yes, I have finished it," he said, extending to my father the sheet of note paper he held in his hand, and an addressed envelope. "But I thought I ought to have your approval first before I sealed the envelope."

"I shall be glad to look at it," my father replied, settling himself in his chair, adjusting his eyeglasses, and reading the letter carefully. Then he passed it over to me.

Seems All Right

"I'd like your opinion," he said. "I'm not very strong on youthful feminine psychology, but it seems all right to me."

I took the letter and read with attention what the distracted boy had written to his sister.

"Carolyn Darling Brat," the brief note began, and then, in awkward, jerky sentences, he outlined the things my father wished the girl to know. At the close, he went back to the endearing half mirthful phrases with which I guessed he always embellished his letters to the sister he idolized, but whose possible treachery he was subconsciously fearing.

"I'll be mighty glad to see you, precious brat, and I'll have a hickory stick ready for you if you try any of your old tricks on me. Always, Your big bad brother, Ron."

I think my eyes were a bit misty as I handed the note, with its aura of tragedy, back to my father.

"I think it's perfectly all right," I told him.

"Then," my father said, as he extended the sheet of note paper to Ronald, "put it in the envelope and get it mailed right away."

"You want me to take it to the main postoffice, I imagine," Ronald said, as he folded the sheet of paper, inserted it in the envelope, and sealed it.

Gives Ronald an Errand

"Yes, and be sure to put a special delivery on it," my father said, and Ronald rose and with casual politeness to us, bowed for the door. My father followed him, and when he opened it, gave him an unguessably unpronounced number of errands.

"When you have mailed the letter," he said, "would you mind going down to the Underwood house and keeping that company until I terminate you to come back here? You see, I promised Marion's mother that the house never would be left alone, so that if Marion should get an opportunity to send a message there somebody who knows her would be on the job. Of course, Joel knows her, too."

"But he isn't one of her family," Ronald broke in impetuously. "Of course I'll go with pleasure, and do you need me for anything special now?"

"No, why?" my father asked.

"Because I'd like to stay over there, if I might, as long as you do not need me somewhere else," Ronald replied. "It makes me seem nearer Marion somehow."

Ronald Departs

"No reason in the world why you shouldn't stay there," my father answered, and then Ronald was gone, and I burst out in admiring comment.

"And he never guessed that you had planned it all out!" I said.

"It didn't take much planning," my father said depressingly. "But it's all to the good that he won't sit in on our councils. Now if Harry only will arrive! We haven't much time."

"Here he is now!" I exclaimed excitedly as the knocker sounded, and in another two seconds the splendidly built figure of Harry Underwood came into the room, his brilliant black eyes, betraying excitement.

"Have you had any news of Marion?" he asked.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Condition of Skin

THE GOD decree of our youth paid no heed at the league. It was supposed to give him a sort of general idea of the state of health of a race versus the contagious ills. As a matter of fact, it didn't touch him much, because we didn't know what to look for.

He communicated on a coated tongue and a coated tongue doesn't mean anything. If he had given the meaning and significance of raw tongue and red tongues, he would have had a clue to a symptom of the anemias and the vitamin deficiencies. "Has a red tongue raw, red gut" is a modern clinical phrase.

The modern physician is much more likely to get his impressions of the patient's general status from looking at and feeling the skin. When an experienced clinician, going through his wards, dictates to his interne about a patient that he "looks sick," you can put that down as one of the most important items in his examination.

The sagging of the muscles of the face that denotes Nature's exhaustion, the pallor of heart muscle disease or the bluish duskiness of heart failure or shock, the yellow tint of anemia, the thin skin of abnormal weight loss—any of these the trained eye sees and assesses almost subconsciously.

A whole new science has grown up around the skin changes of vitamin deficiency. In general these changes consist of changes in the color of the skin, in an increase in the dryness of the skin and in poor function of the greases glands of the skin.

One of them at least comes from too much vitamins. We hear so much of people having too little vitamins, that we never give a thought to the possibility of getting too much. We are warned pretty regularly not to eat too much protein, cut down on your fat, so why isn't is possible that if we stuff ourselves with vitamins we may get more than the body can take care of.

This seems to be the case with the appearance of a yellowish discoloration of the skin known as carotenemia, which comes from eating too much of pigment-ed vegetables containing carotene, the precursor of vitamin A. In Germany after World War I it was found frequently because of the predominant vegetable diet given by the German people in those years.

Vitamin deficiency especially vitamin A deficiency results often in a simple dryness of the skin. This may go over into scruffiness and finally the scaly skin known as ichthyosis. It has been found that many of these cases respond to vitamin A and B.

Still another set of skin conditions apparently due to vitamin deficiency are characterized by a roughness of the skin due to plugs that form in the mouths of the numerous glands which normally supply the skin with grease. Lack of vitamin B (yeast, wheat germ) accounts for most of these.
